

SGA Officers

above: Rashondra Rankin, Vice-President; Tyler White, President; Makennah Redd, Secretary; Carlee Evans, Treasurer

Sophomore Class Officers

above: Anna Klair Dorr, Treasurer; Aleigh Flynn, President; Ryan Ivey, Vice-President; Terrah Nelson, Secretary

Freshman Class Officers

above: McKena Henderson, Vice-President; Kameron Durr, President; Lillie Callihan, Secretary; Sakidra Harrell, Treasurer

student government association events excite students

Life on campus flourished due to the hard work of the Student Government Association. Mondays at noon were the set meeting times for the officers and class representatives of the SGA, and these devoted students discussed methods to improve the quality of the college. The SGA hosted events such as the Bonfire Pep Rally and the annual sponsored Beauty Pageant that got the student body involved with campus activities. Even over the summer, SGA officers could be seen applying a fresh coat of paint to all the fire hydrants around campus to keep it looking its best.

Lauren Woodworth, advisor, strongly urged student government members to interact with as many students as they could to learn first-hand what improvements the students would like to experience. Members hosted a basketball game and served pizza to their fellow students at the 8:30 Madness, and those who attended unanimously voted to name the basketball student section "The Bear Cave." Public relations and fundraising allowed the Student Government Association to simultaneously accomplish assigned tasks. There was no event on campus that the SGA could not be seen at, and the officers displayed their official name tags and uniforms with pride. Regardless of the matter, they were prepared to take on any challenge in order to benefit the students they faithfully served. The Student Government Association loyally represented the student body, and their immaculate efforts ultimately improved life on campus.

by Madison VanNess

above: Tyler White, SGA President, delivers a speech to the student body; left: Ryleigh McManus strikes a pose in her chicken costume during halftime; opposite page bottom: Kacy Bui and Alex Laurich model their costumes in the middle of the court; opposite page top: Makannah Redd shoots for the basket during March Madness.